Clean-Up Drive Starts This Week

Perry County's 1964 clean-up campaign will get underway tomorrow evening at a kick-off meeting of county leaders and all interested persons at the Kentucky Power Company auditorium at 7:30.

Two officials of the state government will be on hand as principal speakers.

They are Mrs. Connie Quinn, assistant director, Department of Conservation, and Steve Sandlin, Lake and Resort Sanitation Consultant for the Health Department.

The meeting will be organizational in purpose, seeking to mobilize the full efforts of all county and city government and service organizations behind the annual clean-up drive.

Fire prevention, public health and general appearance will be prime objectives of the campaign.

Perry County's efforts will coincide with one of larger scope over the entire state.

The month-long campaign will culminate in a final week of intensive effort to collect and dispose of all unwanted debris of any type.

While the first days of the overall county effort will be devoted to organization, the City will continue its weekly collection of household and yard debris.

City Manager C. C. Colwell has said that collection crews will pick up all unwanted matter that is made accessible on sidewalks and streets.

In addition, a crew of ten city workers will physically scrub all of Main Street this week, beginning at three a.m. Thursday.

Using the street washer, hoses and scrub broom, the crew will go over the street and sidewalks to wash away dirt and stains the street washer normally misses in its frequent runs.

In return for maintenance of the access road, the City has also made its garbage and trash dump available to the County for the disposal of unwanted debris of rural residents.

Chairman of the Perry County drive is Mr. Frances McDougal, acting head of the Social Security District office here.

Herald Announces News Deadline Policy

Persons who have been kind enough to contribute items of news interest to the Herald are reminded of the nine a.m. deadline on press day of all copy that correspondents wish to have in a particular issue of the paper.

The Herald is happy to use its columns for announcement-type items of local interest, and all other news of local persons and events. But because of the time-consuming process an item must go through from the written to the printed stage, we cannot guarantee that items coming in later than nine a.m. on press day will be published.

Lions Club Plans Minstrel For May 8-9

Have you noticed the men on the streets of Hazard carrying canes with a blue and white banner attached? These men are members of the Hazard Lions Club publicizing their Annual Minstrel Show which will be presented at the High School Auditorium the nights of Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9 at 8:00 P.M.

The purpose of this minstrel is to furnish glasses for all underprivileged school children. The Hazard Lions Club has sponsored this program for forty-two years, having helped untold hundreds of citizens to a better life through sight conservation.

This has been accomplished through hard work of the membership in various projects such as the litter bag sale. Rubinoff and his violin and the annual minstrel, which is the largest project of the club. Without this program, many deserving children would not be able to attend school due to the need of glasses.

Hazard Librarian Issues Reminder of Library Week

April 12-18 is National Library Week, a time to remember that reading is the key for a better informed America.

Clarence Day said: "The world of books is the most remarkable creation of man. Nothing else he builds ever lasts. Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die. But in the world of books are volumes that live on still as young and fresh as the day they were written, still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead."

You are invited to visit your Bobby Davis Library, located in Bobby Davis Park.

It is open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 2 to 5. You are always welcome and you will be pleased—and probably surprised—at the wide range of good reading that awaits you there.

Federal Food Stamps Help Feed 8400 Perry County Residents

Ralph E. Wells, Social Service Supervisor, stated that 8400 individuals are now participating in the Food Stamp Program in Perry County.

Since the beginning of the Program, which started in 1963, approximately $870,000.00 in coupons have been issued to the needy families of Perry County. Of this amount recipients have paid approximately $263,000.00.

The Food Stamp Program is a new method of helping low income and Public Assistance families to purchase a wide variety of United States produced foods for human consumption on the table. We all benefit from the Program. The Food Stamp Recipients have additional food purchasing power.

Stimulate Economy

The American Farmer is able to sell more food and the Retailers and Wholesalers are able to sell more goods, thereby stimulating the general economy of the county and the whole nation.

The low income families are required to spend the amount of money that they would ordinarily spend for food based on the income of the household, the size of their family and their food needs for the month, and are given additional food coupons to give them more buying power.

State Road 28 Near Buckhorn

Due New Surface

A contract for bituminous concrete surfacing on Old Ky. 28 in Perry County has been awarded by the Highway Department, Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward announced today.

The project will begin at the new Ky. 28 and extend to the high water mark of Buckhorn Dam, a distance of 1.543 miles. Adams Construction Corp., Pikeville, submitted the low bid of $17,668.30.

This highway improvement is being financed out of the state road fund.

Hazard's $805,000 Sewage Facility Goes Into Operation

Hazard's long-awaited sewage treatment plant is now in operation. Begun last week on a trial basis, the brand new facility is now working full time, climaxing sixteen years of efforts of city leaders to obtain such a plant.

The $805,250 plant came into existence as a result of a general obligation bond issue which was approved by Hazard voters in November, 1959.

A federal grant of $206,250 cut the city's cost through bonds to $599,000, which, according to plan, will be retired in thirty years, or about 1989.

Most of the revenue to pay off the bonds is coming from last year's increase of city water bills.

In 1957 voters rejected a bond issue proposal similar to the one they finally passed. Continued pressure from the state government to clean up Kentucky streams kept the proposal alive and ultimately moved Hazard citizens to take seriously the problem of stream pollution from raw sewage.

For forty years, the city's main sewer trunk line, like most other Eastern Kentucky cities, merely dumped its burden of filth right into the North Fork of the Kentucky River, and within the city limits at that.

Now, thanks to the new plant, the worst that the city will let into the stream is the water which carries the sewage from town to the plant at Allais.

What happens to the sewage? In polite terms, it eventually winds up as dried fertilizer which has considerable resale value on the fertilizer market.

The treatment plant is located down the river from Allais, about half way between the Hazard Vocational School and the mouth of 2nd Creek, on land across the river and the railroad from Kentucky Highway 15.

Through a 36 inch trunk line, gravity carries the waterborne sewage to the plant where a pumping station lifts it into the main treatment compartments.

There it is treated by chemicals, run through a stone filter, and otherwise processed to borne sewage to the plant salvage from waste the valuable fertilizer product.

The plant operator is Billy Howard of Hazard. The building contractor was the Forcum and Lannon Company of Dyersburg, Tennessee.

Liberty Street Project

Funds Available For New Houses

Congressman Carl D. Perkins said in a telegram to the Hazard Herald today that funds have been made available to Hazard for the construction of thirty new low-rent houses on Liberty Street.

The houses are expected to go up on a plat to be prepared by the Urban Renewal program between Chester Street and the present federal housing project on Liberty Street.

Present estimates call for an expenditure of $10,692 per house. A total of $473,194 has been approved for the entire project once the site is ready, according to Perkins' wire.

This was the text of the wire: "Pleased to advise. Housing and Home Finance Agency, Public Housing, has approved loan totaling $473,194 with interest to provide for construction of thirty low rent homes in Hazard, Kentucky. Estimated cost for each home $10,692. (Signed) Carl D. Perkins."

Autobiography of James M. Fields, 81, Farler

By James Monroe Fields
I was born January 24, 1883, in Perry County, on the right fork of Mason's Creek. The postoffice then was Viper, Ky., but was changed later to Farler.

My parents were Elihu (Sam) and Millie McKinney Fields. They lived, at the time of my birth, in a one-room log cabin. I am the oldest of their nine children. Three brothers and two sisters are still living: Kelley Fields, of Keavy, Ky.; Jason Fields, of Hazard; Anderson Fields, of Farler; Mrs. Dora Wells, of Keavy; and Mrs. Margaret Adams, of Hyden.

I have been a life-long resident of Perry County. In 1889 I started in school when I was six years of age. I attended school part of the time when schools had three and five month terms until I was about 16 years old.

My first text book was the Old Blue Back Speller. Later, during the five month term, I used McGuffey's Reader and Speller, Ray's Arithmetic, Geography of the United States, Brown's Elementary Health Book, Harvey's English, and Barnes' History of the U.S. In the meantime, I had to assist my parents in rearing my younger brothers and sisters.

Later I started to school in earnest and attended until I was about 22 years old. I attended The Hazard Baptist Institute School about three and a half months. The only means of transportation was walking or riding a horse a distance of 16 miles.

In May, 1905, I took the county examination and made a first class certificate. In July, 1905, I began a life career as an instructor in a log building school (shown in the picture above.) My salary was $34.02 per month for a six month school and in 1906 I taught a third class school for $24.00 per month. There were cracks between the logs in the building, the benches were backless, and split out of logs. There were never enough seats.

Mr. Fields will receive The Hazard Herald FREE for the rest of his life in exchange for his autobiography which qualifies him for the "OVER 80" Special. The class would gather around the fire to keep warm while I taught. I often bought books for pupils who couldn't afford them.

In 1922 I earned a first class provisional elementary certificate and in 1930 this certificate was extended for life. After 47 years of service I retired at the age of 70 on my 250 acre farm at Farler, doing small scale farming, raising cattle, hogs, and the keeping of Bees. Bees have become a hobby of mine. I now have 28 colonies.

Mr. Fields in the First School where he taught.

I live on this farm with my wife, Ollie Maggard Fields. She was the daughter of Andy and Dora Hart Maggard. We were married in 1915 and have five children. All five children and one grandson have followed my footsteps as a teacher.

The children are: Mrs. Grace Combs of Cincinnati, who attended Morehead State College two years and is now Credit Investigator for the J. C. Penny Company in Cincinnati; Dave Fields, Viper, attended Caney Creek Junior College, Pippa-passes for one year and Lee's Junior College, Jackson, one year, and is now an instructor of the Vocational School in Hazard; Miss Dora Fields, a first grade teacher in the Hyden Elementary School, Hyden, attended Morehead State College for two years and will receive a degree in Elementary Education this summer at Cumberland College, Williamsburg.

Earl Fields, Hyden, attended Caney Creek Junior College for one year, Morehead State College one year, and is at this time, County Court Clerk of Leslie County; James Monroe Fields, Jr., a science teacher at Mississippi State University, attended East Tennessee State College and from Mississippi State University, received the Bachelor of Science and Ceramic and Metallurgical Engineering degrees.

I have 13 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. One grandson, John W. Combs, is a graduate of Campbellsville College. During his senior year he was selected "Mr. Campbellsville" by the student body. He now teaches biology and coaches football at Finneytown High School in Cincinnati.

I am a member of the Old Regular Baptist Church and attend the Brashear Memorial Church above Viper.

I have had a good life, have reached the age of 81, and my wife is 68. All my children and grandchildren are living. It is for these blessings as well as our progressive and advanced education which I am grateful. I thank the Lord for these provisions, the divine guidance and the fruitfulness of my life.

Services Held For Grover Campbell

Mr. Grover Campbell, 77, of Jeff, died Wednesday, April 1, of a stroke after an extended illness. Mr. Campbell was a member of the Church of Christ and a retired mmer.

He is survived by his wife, Mae Cornett Campbell; two sons, Marvin of Jeff, and Arvin of Viper; one daughter, Mrs. C. W. Green, of Hamilton, Ohio; one brother, Curt, of Kodak; and two sisters, Mrs. Laura Engle, of Viper, and Mrs. Orpha Pratt, of Sassafras.

Seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild also survive. Funeral services were held Friday, April 3, at the Ira Combs Baptist Church with Rev. Henry Hall officiating.

Burial was in the Spencer Cemetery at Cornettsville with Brashear Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mt. Garden Garden Club Elects Mrs. C. J. Mellott Secretary

The regular monthly meeting of the Mountain View Garden Club was held at the Bobby Davis Memorial Library on March 24th with Mrs. L. D. Gorman, President, presiding. During the business session, Mrs. C. J. Mellott was elected Secretary to succeed Mrs. Lucy Lawson. Mrs. John L. Ray reported on the 125 pink Dogwoods to be planted on the roadsides leading to La Cita. The dogwoods having been purchased through donations of the residents of Daniel Hills, Sun Valley Terrace and other interested citizens and business firms. A sample of the hanging baskets to be placed on Main Street was shown to the Club members.

Mrs. Toufeek Shaheen presented the program on "Etiquette of Giving and Wearing Flowers". She began by stating that there were four main rules to remember in the wearing of flowers for today's fashions. 1. The time of day is an important factor. 2. The type of women who wears the flowers. 3. The type of wearing apparel she prefers and 4. The occasion. Corsages of popular single blossoms, such as orchids, gardenias and carnations are considered elegant and rather formal and are chosen mostly for cocktail, dinners and dances. Violets and primroses are suitable for morning, luncheon or a gift for your hostess. Large Chrysanthemums are worn for sports occasions. On the second factor a corsage should not be too large for a small lady or too small for a large one, the colors should be harmonious and should never attract attention to themselves but to the charm of the wearer. If you are of a pale complexion wear flowers of daring colors. If a ruddy complexion go in for cooler shades of blues, lavenders and yellows with touches of green and paler shades of the warm colors. Always wear the flower the way it is grown, try at all times to reflect the personality of the person to whom the flowers are intended. In closing she stated that at Christmas or at Easter it is in good taste to send a planted arrangement or you can send a Christmas design of seasonal flowers or a corsage at Easter; send flowers for bon voyage, new babies, good wishes for those starting a new business, or someone opening a new home. The limit of your purse and the knowledge of the people you are sending to should guide you in your selection of flowers.

A Letter From
AUNT MAGGIE

Box 495,
Hazard, Kentucky

Dear Jenny:
You are not any different from other Teen-agers when they begin asking themselves the questions: What makes me me—why am I here—how do I fit in with the rest of the world?

Many people have asked themselves these questions and some have tried to find answers in philosophy, in psychology and similar areas of the mind.

The answer doesn't lie in the mind. It is in your innermost being. In Abigail Van Buren's column many Teen-agers write to her seeking answers to these questions so early in life but I hope I can help you to look in the right direction.

We are all created in the image of God, so we must have been meant for something more than an animal-like existence where we satisfy only the desires of the body.

The Bible tells that God breathed into Adam's nostrils and "man became a living soul." That means we are different from every other living thing. In Revelation 4:11 we read, "... for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

When Adam and Eve walked with God in the garden, there was pleasure in their fellowship, but when Adam sinned, the fellowship was broken and the pleasure was gone. Man has worth and dignity in God's sight only as our relationship to Jesus is right.

The creator certainly knows all about His creation, heart, mind and soul, so we need to ask as did Saul on the Damascus road,

"Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

Raymond Burr of the Perry Mason series said in an interview with Elaine St. Johns.

"Thy will be done isn't a passive statement. It's an offer of cooperation in whatever God can do through us. Our part is the right hand of action."

Jenny, you are God's creation, made to have pleasure in fellowship with Him. Your fellowship with Him comes not only from a heart that is free from sin through trust in Jesus as your Saviour, but also in serving Him. Anything and everything you do "In His Name" draws you into closer fellowship with Him and the joy and happiness you will know comes from the knowledge that you are doing what He wants you to do.

Remember that verse in Isaiah 6:8:

"I heard the voice of the Lord saying, whom shall I send and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me."

There's no better age than now, Jenny, for you to learn by doing. Try giving yourself away for Jesus' sake, and you will find out who you are and why you are here. The Lord will have pleasure in you and you in Him.

Love,
Aunt Maggie.

Kitchen Care

"Kitchen Glamour with Easy Care" was given Tuesday, April 7, at the Power Company auditorium.

The modern trend is to have the kitchen the gayest, cheeriest, room in the house, yet one that is easy to keep sparkling clean and bright. Color gives the homemaker a lift and adds gayness to her time spent here. Color used correctly makes a dark kitchen light, a gloomy one brighter and an uninteresting one more attractive," says Gladys M. Lickert, Extensive Specialist in Home Management and Housing from the University of Ky.

Attending were Mrs. Adrian Combs of Ary, Mrs. Roy Fortney of Combs, Mrs. Bartle Melton of Allais, Mrs. Jessie Peters of Hazard, Mrs. John Peterson of Viper, Mrs. Corbett Grigsby of Lotts Creek, Mrs. Ruby Brahear of Leatherwood, Mrs. Amelia Daniels of Walkertown, Mrs. Florence Zimmerman of Liberty Street and Mrs. Elmer Hall of Lothair.

VO-ED For A Changing World

Writer Tells Purpose of Vo-Ed

By James Farmer Asher

What is vocational education? Well, its simplest definition is the training of the mind and hands to perform the necessary functions that your chosen vocation would require.

The purpose of vocational education is to enable you to earn your "daily bread" by putting to use the things you have learned, so as to become self-supporting and self-sufficient. This will assure you a respectable place in society.

Vo-Ed. is no longer the step-child of education, but has been legally adopted by a very wealthy and influential father, the State and Federal Government.

Through the pressures of this changing world brought about by the great advances of knowledge and the practical application of this knowledge in all the technical fields in education and will become more integrated with academic instruction. Appliances are becoming so complicated it looks as if housewives will have to be trained in the use of them.

Mr. Walter Prater made a business trip to Frankfort this week. We had a photographer from the International Press visit our school last week. He made several photos of students in the classrooms. These photographs will appear in world-wide publications.

Mrs. Carolyn Carte Giordano, who teaches the night class of the youth group clerk-steno class, has suggested that the instructors in each class cut out and tack up this school-news article on their bulletin boards as she is doing.

I would like for all the schools to participate in and contribute to this column. If anyone has anything to contribute to this column please contact me at this number 6-3552 and I will be glad to include it in the news. Do not feel that I have left you out. You've left me out, waiting to hear from you. I would like to say at this time that sometimes mistakes will occur in grammar or in the printing process. A small error was made last week. It is possible that I made it, then again someone else could have been responsible. We are all human and therefore, are subject to mistakes. Please excuse us for any future errors.

He is now qualified to act as co-pilot or plane captain during helicopter rescue operations of downed pilots on land or in the ocean.

Before entering the Navy in August 1951, Fields attended Hazard High School.

Charges Against Pickets Dismissed

Charges of unfair labor practices filed in 1963 against Eastern Kentucky's roving pickets and the United Mine Workers were dismissed yesterday by the National Labor Relations Board.

The board's action, in effect, reaffirms findings announced August 27 by Horace Ruckel, an N.L.R.B. trial examiner, following a lengthy hearing at Pikeville.

Ruckel said that: The roving pickets and their leaders, including Berman Gibson of Hazard, were not a labor organization and, therefore, do not come within the jurisdiction of federal labor laws.

The U.M.W. was not involved in the activities of the roving pickets.

The Pikeville hearing stemmed from charges filed with the board by several Eastern Kentucky coal operators. The operators charged that the pickets and union were conspiring to close non-union coal mines in the mountains.

Picketing erupted in the region in late 1962, shortly after the union announced it was canceling the welfare and retirement cards of coal miners employed in non-union mines.

The principal defendants in the board's action included Gib-

Canned Corn Will Be At Record Level; Ripe Olives Record Peak

Cecile Townes — Home Demonstration Agent

Almost every family uses Canned foods every day and many rely on them for the major portion of their meals.

Last year there were enough tin cans opened in America to reach to the moon and back three times. Over 200,000 tons of still goes into tin cans each month. We use 40 billion tin cans, and 80 billion glass containers each year.

This spring, canned corn at the shelf-stocks... will be at a record-level. Canned ripe olives if estimates are realized (2.9 million cases) will be a record large pack. The ripe pitted olives will be for distribution through the national school lunch program. Cling peaches is in ample supply and will be given considerable promotional emphasis during the next few weeks. There are still fairly ample quantities of apple sauce in shelf sizes and the same can be said of the pineapple.

The shopper must be familiar with the canned food label, and consider it the "window" of what is inside the can.

Some items to especially note on the label are:

Check weight or fluid measurements to get the amount you need. (Number of servings is often given).

Note the style of pack. Is it whole? halves? cream style? or whole kernel?

Note the name of the product. Be sure it is what you want and select the brand you prefer.

Compare prices of different brands and grades... not grade you are buying.
